

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

At the children's day exercises in the Rutland Congregational church last Sunday, 24 babies were baptized.

The total output of the state fish hatchery at St. Johnsbury for the season was 1,800,000 trout and 2,000,000 perch.

A little daughter of Harold Cochran of North Craftsbury fell from her chair through a window recently, cutting her throat quite badly.

Jerry Allen, whose death occurred at his home in Grand Isle a few days ago, had reached the age of 96 years. A broken hip hastened his demise.

C. J. Strand of Amherst, Mass., is to be principal of the new senior high school which the voters of Hinesburg have decided to maintain. Courses in agriculture and domestic science will be given.

In Bordenville, a hamlet in Enosburg, a bird has chosen the top of a stovepipe in the schoolhouse for a nest, and although there are 23 pupils in the school the nest has been unmolested and there are now five baby birds there.

The Orleans County Monitor numbers among its correspondents two blind persons, Miss Myrtle Aldrich of West Burke, who is also a switchboard operator of the Passumpsic Telephone company of that place, and Chaplain Farman of Westfield.

The Free Baptist church at St. Johnsbury has voted almost unanimously to unite with the other Baptist church of that place under the name of the Union Baptist church of St. Johnsbury. Committees from each church will meet to complete plans.

Mrs. Eliza S. Morse observed her 100th birthday anniversary Wednesday at her home in West Brattleboro. Although she is dressed and about her room each day, her health is rather frail. Up to this time she was 91 years old she cared for a large dairy and made butter.

Jeremiah Downey, a noted horse thief who has served sentences in a number of Vermont jails, including the house of correction, is dead at Schenectady, N. Y. The man was 60 years old. A brother, Thomas Downey, lives in Montpelier.

Conductor Fred J. Radford, of a freight on the St. J. & L. C. road, saved the life Monday of a small boy, who had climbed on the side of a car for a ride, and as the train gained momentum was hanging by his hands. Mr. Radford grabbed the boy and threw himself from the train, escaping with only a few scratches and minor bruises.

The valve business of the E. & T. Fairbanks company of St. Johnsbury has been sold to the Fairbanks company of Binghamton, N. Y., the manufacture of valves at St. Johnsbury will be discontinued. It has been in operation for 20 years. The 50 men employed in that room will be given work in other departments of the factory.

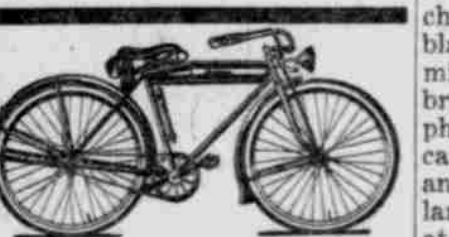

Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Basford observed the 60th anniversary of their marriage at their home in Barre June 5. Thirteen children were born to them, of whom five survive. There are 24 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren. Mr. Basford, who is 84 years old, reads without glasses, and Mrs. Basford, at the age of 80, has picked up several quilts since last Christmas.

Alan Morgan of Pownal was badly injured recently in a peculiar accident. The middle and fourth finger of his left hand were caught between the chain and the sprocket of his motorcycle, and the middle finger was cut off close to the hand, while the other was badly torn and cut by the chain. He was unable to extricate his hand from the chain and lay in the road for some time before anyone came along to give him relief.

Earl Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fox of Rutland, with a party of young people from Fair Haven, on Wednesday night ran into the guard rail of a bridge between Fair Haven and Hampton and badly damaged the big Chalmers-Detroit automobile which he was driving. Mr. Fox had invited some girls from Fair Haven for a pleasure spin and while driving rather rapidly met with the accident. None of the party was seriously injured.

Dr. Wallace Templeton of Irasburg, who was showing off his high speed auto near Lyndon a few days ago, unknowingly met a Ford containing State's Attorney N. A. Norton, and as a result, while eating dinner with friends at the St. Johnsbury house, he was served with a warrant for speeding and was obliged to pay a fine with costs. A. G. Perry, a Randolph agent, was arrested for speeding at West Danville last week and paid a fine and costs.

AVIATION MEET AT NORTHFIELD.

Plans as Already Arranged for the July 6 Gathering.

The plans for the aviation meet to be held at Northfield university, Northfield, July 6, are well under way. Major Wallace Batchelder of the Aero Club of America, who has been directed to have this meeting held, has arranged to have Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, the discoverer of the north pole, present to assist at this meet. Admiral Peary is chairman of the committee on "aerial coast patrol and landing places" of the Aero Club of America and his duties are now confined entirely to aviation and aeronautics.

At the meet July 3 it is planned to elect a temporary organization, elect a committee on constitution and by-laws and take up the question of the classes of membership, amount of initiation fee and dues for each class, and the question of whether or not an Aero Club of Vermont shall be organized, and if so, whether it shall become a part of, or affiliation with, the Aero Club of America as a part of "The Federation Aeronautique Internationale."

The nations having clubs that are constituent parts of "The Federation Aeronautique Internationale" are the following: Argentine Republic, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, France, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Russia, Spain, Switzerland and the United States.

Governor Gates, some of the justices of the supreme court, some of the superior judges, some members of the present Senate and of the present House of Representatives and many of the leading men of the state have already expressed a desire to become charter members of the Aero Club of Vermont.

James Hartness of Springfield, the president of the Jones & Lamson Machine company, and a member of the Vermont educational commission, is one of the leading moving spirits in this work. Mr. Hartness is an inventor and a scientist of international reputation, having been president of different scientific and engineering international societies and associations. Mr. Hartness has for some months been engaged in deep study of aviation and aeronautics and has been taking a course in the science and learning to fly at Garden City, L. I.

The Grand Army of the Republic, Sons of Veterans, the Spanish war veterans, the Greater Vermont association and all boards of trade and all public-spirited organizations in the state are requested to co-operate and to send representatives to the meet. The president and the governor of the Aero Club of America are to attend and it is expected that a Curtis or Thomas biplane will make flights during the meet at Northfield.

An Odd Violation of Law.

Having a raccoon in his possession in close season, other than by purchasing the animal of the state, cost C. L. Fox, traveling representative of the Raccoon Corn Plaster company, $13. Fox purchased the animal of a man in North Dorset for $8 and took it to Middlebury, where it was seized by Game Warden George H. Chaffee.

The state claims that no one may possess fur-bearing animals of this kind in close season unless purchased of the state. Therefore, Fox purchased the raccoon from the warden by paying $5, thus making his investment $13. The Bennington county warden has been notified of the transaction and, unless the Dorset man returns to Fox the $8 he received from him the former owner of the raccoon stands a chance of prosecution for selling game out of season without permission of the fish and game commissioner.

N. U. COMMENCEMENT

Will Start Sunday with the Baccalaureate Address.

Great preparations are being made for commencement at Northfield university. This takes place next week, June 18 to 22. The ceremonies open Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock when President Reeves will deliver the baccalaureate address. Monday forenoon there will be an equitation contest and an exhibition drill by the corps of cadets. In the afternoon the cornerstone of the new riding hall will be laid with fitting ceremony. The various fraternities will hold their commencement banquets that evening.

Tuesday forenoon will be taken up with exhibition drills, a sham battle, and inspection of the new Ainsworth infirmary. In the afternoon there will be a baseball game between Northfield and St. Michael's college. The senior concert will take place in the evening.

The board of trustees will hold their regular meeting Wednesday morning, at which time they will elect a new member of the board to succeed General Grenville M. Dodge, who died Dec. 3, 1915. There will also be a baseball game Wednesday morning. The alumni will endeavor to show the variety that they still know how to toss the ball around the bases.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the inauguration of President Ira L. Reeves will take place. President Guy Potter, Benton of the University of Vermont, Colonel Sebastian Jones of the New York Military academy, the Hon. Frank Plumley of the board of trustees, Dean H. R. Roberts of the faculty, DeWitt C. Webb, president of the General Alumni association, and Captain E. G. Adams of the senior class will deliver addresses of welcome. The inaugural address of President Reeves will follow.

On June 22 the commencement day speaker will be Colonel E. F. Glenn, chief of staff of the department of the East. General Leonard A. Wood will also be present and give an address. The commencement exercises will take place in the morning. The afternoon will be taken up with exhibition drills by the corps of cadets. This exhibition is the climax of the military work of the year, and a fine exhibition is always presented. Following the drills there will be evening parade, announcement of promotions, and the final review of the corps by the graduating class.

Fatally Injured in Belting.

William Griffith of Castleton Corners, who had a leg amputated, his jaw broken and his face terribly crushed in an accident Wednesday evening at the Stas mills in Castleton, where he was employed, died from the shock at the Rutland hospital during Wednesday night.

There was trouble with one of the belts and Mr. Griffith, without waiting for the assistance of the man whom the foreman had ordered to aid him, attempted to remedy the difficulty alone. He was caught in the shafting and terribly mangled.

Dr. R. H. Seelye of Castleton attempted the patient. He was rushed to the Rutland hospital at once in the hope that something might be done for him, but he died not long after his arrival at the institution.

Mr. Griffith was about 23 years of age and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Griffith, three sisters and two brothers.
